THE COALITION OF ADOLESCENT EMERGENCY SERVICES

A Network of Non-Profit, Youth Serving Programs Across Massachusetts

THE COALITION

The Coalition of Adolescent Emergency Services (CAES) is a statewide network of twenty-two member organizations and several affiliates providing 24 hour emergency services including shelter, support, outreach, and advocacy to over 4,000 youth and their families each year. Organized in 1982 by the Massachusetts Committee for Children and Youth, a thirty-two year old private non-profit advocacy organization, the Coalition also serves as "watchdog" to the state system -- monitoring activities of state agencies, gubernatorial budget cuts, legislation, et cetera -- and as its own "watchdog," instituting a comprehensive peer review system to ensure the highest quality services reach all youth and families in crisis.

ONGOING EFFORTS

- To see a comprehensive system of care: one which addressed family dysfunction prevention; immediate, accessible family care; and extensive programming for children and youth who must live away from their natural family
- To ensure the health of high risk adolescents in shelters and emergency foster care through enhanced programming and formal linkages with primary health care facilities
- To ensure the education of high risk adolescents in the public school system, and to help educate school personnel about the needs and issues of out-of-home youth
- To enhance communication between programs in order to provide vulnerable youth and families with the most effective services possible
- To promote the best policies and practices for serving youth in crisis through an interagency peer review system

SPECIAL PROJECTS

A CAES for Safety: HIV/AIDS Prevention and Education Project

Beginning in July 1989 through funding from Centers for Disease Control, the project trains both youth and staff in 9 greater Boston emergency shelters in HIV/AIDS prevention. In 1990, a full-time Health Educator lead bi-monthly trainings at each shelter site. In 1991, regional staff trainings were held in addition to client visits. A 1991 grant from the Aetna Foundation will allow expansion of the peer education component of the project, which trains and utilizes "peer educators" (youth trained in discussing HIV/AIDS prevention with other youth). Persons living with AIDS (PWA's) -- including teen PWA's -- also participate in this cutting edge HIV/AIDS education project. The Boston City Council, the National Network for Runaway and Youth Services, and the City of Cambridge AIDS Task force are among many who have praised the program and staff for its effectiveness, and view it as a nationally replicable model.

Substance Abuse Linkage and Education Project

Of 1,066 youths in CAES programs surveyed in 1989, 67% presented significant alcohol and other substance abuse problems. Funded through the Drug Abuse Education and Prevention Program for Runaway and Homeless Youth of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, this project began in October 1990 to enhance the emergency service system and each agency's capacity to provide outreach, referral and treatment to substance abusing youth in their care. Agencies will link with community resources, update policies, and increase resources to better serve these youth.

SUCSESSES

- Aftercare programming keeps almost 100% of families from requiring extended out-of-home adolescent care
- Immediate crisis intervention and family mediation--in the shelter/foster home programs and police stations--keeps families together and avoids further costly child welfare system involvement
- Special programming pinpoints youth at risk of substance abuse and/or HIV infection, providing early intervention as well as specialized treatment and follow-up when needed
- Transitional living services give out-of-home youth the skills and self-esteem they need to finish school, seek and hold jobs, and live law-abiding lives
- In the interest of prevention as well as crisis intervention, CAES members address unique community needs working directly with community members in service planning and implementation

ADOLESCENT EMERGENCY CARE

Massachusetts providers offer runaway, homeless and at-risk youth emergency shelter and crisis intervention in community based shelters, emergency foster homes and youth programs. They provide a mix of counseling and other support services in an environment where the youth feel safe. These are necessary services since shelter is a primary right, a necessity for survival. But temporary shelter is not enough. The goal of each and every program is to seek and establish permanent homes which provide safety, nurturance and self-esteem.

Out-of-home youth in Massachusetts are a varied group and the emergency service programs established to help them are equally varied. The types of services commonly provided include:

This directory lists all known emergency shelter programs in Massachusetts which serve youth on a voluntary basis. Not included are the programs designed exclusively for the treatment of delinquent youth and youth who are physically handicapped or mentally retarded. All adolescent emergency shelter programs listed herein are licensed by the Massachusetts Office for Children.

This directory has been compiled by the Massachusetts Committee for Children and Youth (MCCY). MCCY is a private, non-profit child advocacy organization which sponsors the Coalition of Adolescent Emergency Services (CAES), a statewide coalition of emergency shelters and related youth serving agencies.

For more information contact: Nancy Jackson, Massachusetts Committee for Children and Youth, (617) 742-8555

MCCY would like to thank the Massachusetts adolescent emergency shelter providers listed herein for their interest and cooperation in this project. We would also like to thank them for their continued dedication to some of the Commonwealth's most vulnerable youth. The government and municipal agencies and foundations that provide ongoing support to adolescent emergency and preventive care are also deserving of our appreciation. Without them many vulnerable children would be stranded in violent, chaotic homes or left to survive on the streets. Among these agencies are the Massachusetts Departments of Social Services, Mental Health and Youth Services, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the United Way.
